Sun Shines on Wellness Festival

The Boyup Brook Wellness Festival on Saturday, October 16 provided local residents the chance to unwind and connect with their community whilst enjoying some live music and good food, in the relaxing and safe environment of the Boyup Brook Music Park.

The festival was run by CoMHAT at the end of Mental Health Week, to increase a way to develop mental health awareness and promote a sense of belonging and connection within the community.

With a beautiful day of sunshine to enjoy, a fabulous turn out of more than 450 people were welcomed through the gates with free wellness information packs handed out on their way through.

The event was officially opened by Member for Warren-Blackwood, Jane Kelsbie MLA and also included a visit by Yogi (Outback Truckers 7Mate), live music by singer songwriter and mental health advocate Tracey Barnett and from the High School Rock Bands, a visit from Dead Pool and his Variety Club car, the Rhodes Ridley Truck, games, stalls, interactive displays, food, yoga, sound therapy, face painting and lots of activities for the kids.

Ms Belinda Meehan, CoMHAT Project Officer, said this comes after a $60,000 funding announcement from Jane Kelsbie MLA, to go towards the Boyup Brook Youth Zone to secure a permanent location and purchase mountain bikes for the youth in the community to encourage them to explore their surrounds, exercise and maintain positive mental health.

The event was made possible with the support of sponsorship and the team at CoMHAT would like to thank the Shire of Boyup Brook; Rhodes Pastoral Co; and Boyup Brook Co-op.

My Inbox....

Kaya, wandjoo to the November Gazette.

Boyup Brook has been a hive of activity over the past few weeks with different community events, Council elections, ram sales, sporting activities, infrastructure maintenance and a welcome spot of sunshine here and there. The Blooming Wild weekend, Wellness Festival, Rodeo and Blackwood Marathon were all well attended and brought many visitors to town.

Congratulations to everyone involved, and I would like to recognise the enormous commitment from many volunteers to pull these events together. And a special mention to Cam Atherton and his fundraising efforts for prostate cancer - a truly fantastic effort.

Congratulations to our elected Councillors. As our community's representatives, they are available to listen to any concerns or ideas you may have for the Shire of Boyup Brook.

November is set to be another busy month, kicking off with the Dinninup Show, Open Gardens, School fundraisers and other events, Seniors Forum and Remembrance Day. There really is something for everyone to take part in.

*Until next month, Stay safe, stay well, stay connected
Cheers Jodi*

*The Boyup Gazette acknowledges the Kaniyang people of the Noongar Nation as the traditional custodians of this land on which we live and work.
We pay tribute to elders past, present and emerging and recognise the contribution they have made, and continue to make, to our community.*

SHOWING THE BEST OF BOYUP BROOK

We are on a countdown to Show Day!!

It has been interesting to hear news of other shows and ways they have conducted events to comply with COVID-19 regulations, and the different sections they have omitted from their show for staffing reasons.

But... Dinninup is full steam ahead with everything!

Working bees are almost daily! Railings around the ring have been replaced and painted; likewise the balustrade at the Main Hall entrance has been repaired and painted by Ray Gorman; thank you Ray. He has also patched up some white ant damaged areas in the office and hall.

Fundraising for the new Ablution Block has continued and the Society catered at the Annual Ram Sale clearing just over $700. Local donations are still coming in, very much appreciated. Some very healthy sums of money have come from places much further afield – it seems our show is better known and well regarded from areas way outside our shire!

It is with some sadness that the Society farewells Doris Thompson from her role as Show Clerk. Doris has filled this post very capably for more years than she cares to remember, along with taking Hall bookings. Well done Doris! Your advice is going to be invaluable for time to come.

Doris has handed over to Ally Kinsman who is well qualified and in spite of her busy life, always 'steps up to the plate' with her enthusiasm for the Society.

The Society also warmly welcomes Leigh Beadle as Ground Coordinator and Sally Thompson to manage the Fashion Parade.

So...preparations are well under way and we just need a fine day!

Charter of Rylington Park Institute for Agricultural Training and Research

This Charter confirms that the Rylington Park farming property, home of Rylington Park Institute for Agricultural Training and Research, will be held in trust by the Boyup Brook Shire to benefit the Boyup Brook community and for the use of agricultural training and research.

Rylington Park was gifted to the Shire of Boyup Brook by Mr Eric Farleigh in 1985 to be used for agricultural training and research as this will benefit the town and district as a whole. A quote from Mr Farleigh's last will and testament dated 8th June 1988 states:

"Without creating any specific trust it is my wish that my farming property be retained by the Shire of Boyup Brook for the benefit of persons within the Shire and for research purposes and that my farming records and other records are kept with my farming property."

Eric Farleigh 8th June 1988

The transfer of the farm was officially announced on 2nd November 1985 in order to coincide with a visit to Boyup Brook by the Governor of Western Australia.

After gifting the farm to the Shire, Mr Farleigh continued to live on Rylington Park until his death on 11th November 1988.

OBJECTIVES

The objectives for Rylington Park Institute for Agricultural Training and Research are to:

- Demonstrate good governance and leadership by behaving with integrity and being open and accountable.
- Be recognised as a leader in technology use, training, and sustainable practices.
- Develop, trial and demonstrate the latest agricultural practices and technologies.
- Develop and demonstrate sustainable farming practices to sustainably manage the farm for future generations.
- Deliver industry relevant training.
- Deliver enhanced skills development for the farming community.

ACTIVITIES

To achieve these objectives, the Rylington Park Institute for Agricultural Training and Research will undertake specific activities in the following areas:

- Develop and maintain active partnerships with educational, training and research institutions to conduct training and research in all aspects of agriculture and facilitate these learnings to be shared with the Boyup Brook community.
- Collaborate with local farmers, businesses and organisations to participate in trials and demonstrations.
- Host industry workshops and training days.
- Host rehabilitation and regeneration trials for disused gravel pits and other degraded land.
- Encourage the use of the Rylington Park facilities for broad community participation and involvement.
- Invest in maintenance and ongoing improvements to the farm and facilities to ensure continued use and relevance for future generations.
- Engage the community in annual field days.
- Provide support to the youth of Boyup Brook with agricultural scholarships.
- Provide a financial contribution to community based projects from profits resulting from the operation of the Rylington Park facility.
- Provide regular updates on Rylington Park activities to the Boyup Brook community.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Hello All,

I am extremely disappointed to have it brought to my attention recently that another IT business operating in the area has been inferring that they work with Boyup Brook Computer Service and that they have also implied they taught me my knowledge of IT.

I would like to strongly refute these claims and clarify that Boyup Brook Computer Service has been operating since 1998 as a standalone business and will continue into the future the same. POLICE NEWS

BOYUP BROOK POLICE

On Saturday, October 2 Police responded to a disturbance at the Boyup Brook Hotel where a large fight had erupted. Boyup Brook Police conducted an investigation resulting in several people being issued with banning notices. These people are no longer permitted to enter the licenced premises and charges will be laid if they attempt to.

Boyup Brook Police have been working closely with the Boyup Brook Hotel to prevent such incidents from happening again and patrons should be advised that anti-social behaviour and violence will not be tolerated.

If you are convicted with an offence relating to a licensed premises you may be issued with a barring notice preventing you from entering any licensed premises (including bottle shops) anywhere in the state. Where possible we will be enforcing these provisions to ensure the enjoyment of the majority of patrons are not ruined by the behaviour of others.

On another alcohol related matter...
 We have noticed a considerable increase in the amount of drivers with alcohol in their system. Many drivers seemed surprised to be taken back to the police station for an evidential breath test as they thought "only having a couple" would be ok.

Before you have an alcoholic drink and intend to drive please stop and think. Despite the obvious risk to yourself and other road users, ask yourself how important is your drivers licence? There is an absolute zero tolerance approach to drink driving and there are no excuses.

Many people ask us why we conduct random breath tests in the morning and are surprised to see us pulling over cars on their way to work or dropping kids off to school. Be aware that you may still be over the legal limit the following morning after a big night.

Scammers on the rise

It is likely that you or someone you know has been the victim of a scam. Scammers use all sorts of approaches to steal your personal details. Once obtained they can use your identity to commit fraudulent activities such as using your credit card or opening a bank account.

Scammers are becoming more sophisticated and more believable. More recent ones include pretending to be from ATO, Federal police or government agencies providing information on COVID-19.

If you have lost money to a scam or given your personal details, it is unlikely you will get that money back. Be alert and protect yourself or loved ones from scammers by visiting the ACCC Scamwatch website on www.scamwatch.gov.au.

This website includes ways to report the scam, how to protect yourself from further loss if you have given your details and has plenty of tips on ways to avoid being scammed.

Classic Cars Official Opening

Boyup Brook Classic Cars is a car garage housing a diverse range of vehicles and memorabilia, that has been created by Bert and Angie Hayes over the past 12 months.

The couple will be hosting an official opening on Friday, November 12 at 4pm, where all are welcome to attend and take a look at how they have transformed the property at 61 Railway Parade.

After first moving to Boyup Brook three years ago, in September 2020, Bert and Angie then purchased the property on Railway Parade, to house their extensive car collection.

The couple were originally from Perth, but moved to Northam in 1977 to start their own Toyota Dealership. After selling the dealership in 1984 they moved on to a farm in Grass Valley.

Whilst on the farm they built a large shed to house their "ever growing collection of classic cars and related memorabilia", which they regularly opened up for car club enthusiasts to visit.

Bert says they have been collecting classic cars seriously since approximately 1985, and thinks this passion started a long time ago and was the reason he changed careers from a butcher to a car salesman in 1969.

It has taken Bert and Angie 12 months to modify the buildings to house their vehicles, and also the associated memorabilia that they have been collecting along the way.

To accompany their car garage, they have created an American style diner, an idea they came up with after a trip to NSW visiting motor museums.

"We made the seating for the diner theme just from photos and Angie did the upholstery herself. The petrol bowsers have been collected over many years from clearance sales and professionally restored." Explained Bert.

Bert says their car collection differs from many others as their range is very diverse including Australian, English and American vehicles, in types such as sports cars, utes and sedans.

They are still trying to work out when Classic Cars will be open to the public regularly, but at this stage they will open whenever there is an event happening in Boyup Brook or by appointments made by car clubs or other groups.

They have already opened their doors for events such as the Walk on the Wildside Weekend and the Harvey Dickson Rodeo and so far the Hayes' have received great feedback.

"We have been overwhelmed by the positive comments we have received so far, and hope that it will get even better as time goes on." Said Bert.

The official opening on November 12, will start at 4pm where Shire President Richard Walker will be present to oversee the proceedings. All are welcome to enjoy this free event; refreshments will be available.

If you have some free time and are interested in helping out at Classic Cars, get in touch with Bert on 0428 181 689.

Super Seniors Forum

After the success of the inaugural 2020 event, a second Seniors information forum is being planned for Monday, November 8 at the Boyup Brook Town Hall.

Coinciding with Seniors Week, this forum will provide all members of the community with valuable details about topics that are relevant to planning for the future, including accessing My Aged Care, service provision, assistive equipment and legal and financial considerations.

The forum is free to attend and includes guest speakers, stalls, information packages, engaging activities, a Q&A session, lunch and ICECREAM!

Boyup Brook Community Resource Centre Manager, Jodi Nield said, "Ageing is something we don't necessarily want to think about, however it is important to be aware of the services that are available to help. I am excited that through this forum, community members will again have the opportunity to access this information from industry experts."

For catering purposes, please register your name and any dietary requirements at the Pharmacy or the Boyup Brook CRC by phoning 9765 1169 or email boyupbrook@crc.net.au.

Cancer Shave Update

Cam Atherton's shave for Prostate Cancer at the Boyup Brook Club on October 9 was a huge success, raising over $26,000 and more than doubling Cam's goal.

A decade worth of Cam's dreadlocks were shaved on the night, by his wife Rachael and daughter Shelby.

The great shave was witnessed by a full club house, cheering him on and enjoying a fantastic evening.

"Thank you everyone for your incredible support." Said Cam.

Prostate Cancer affects 1 in 6 men in Australia. The funds raised for the Prostate Cancer Foundation of Australia provide a boost to life-saving prostate cancer research, nursing and support.

Well done Cam!

Have you considered seeing an Osteopath?

Dr Chiwara and the staff at BBMS would like to welcome Teano Nguyen-Verdenet (Osteopath) from Mana Health Clinic in Busselton. Teano will be visiting the Boyup Brook Medical Services every second Wednesday starting on the 10th November 2021.

To book an appointment, please phone Mana Health Clinic on 0406 938 351.

Osteopaths are registered with APHRA (Australian Health Practitioner Reg Agency) and are university-qualified allied health professionals. An Osteopath works with people in pain holistically which means that they look at how the entire body works together (muscles, joints, bones, ligaments, nervous system, organs and so forth) and how someone's health can be affected by their external environment (stress, sleep, diet, mental health, work ergonomics and so forth).

Teano uses a combination of manual therapies (hands-on) and clinical exercise programs to support patients with a wide range of injuries and issues.

St Johns Building Opened

On Saturday, September 11 St John Ambulance Boyup Brook officially opened the long-awaited new Sub Centre building.

The ceremony began in the early afternoon with a welcome to country by Cindy Armstrong. It was attended by Boyup Brook Shire President Cr Richard Walker, Shire CEO Dr Dale Putland, visiting St John Ambulance dignitaries representing Perth and the Southwest, current and former St John Ambulance officers and other invited guests, with Rhonda Parker doing a very professional job as MC.

Planning for the building officially began around 2014 with the formation of a sub-committee. It was improved by many tweaks along the way to ensure it would be the amazing final structure we have today. The first sod was officially turned on 25 September 2020.

The new building replaced a cramped and aging structure with a state-of-the-art facility that can cater not only for officer training, but also public first aid courses and seminars etc.

The office is attended Tuesdays and Thursdays, and officer training is held one Monday night a month over the year.

For information on becoming an officer, a non-operational volunteer or for booking first aid courses, please email boyupbrook.subcentre@stjohnwa.com.au or phone Louise on 9765 2155.

Mystery of Life Tour

Each year, Year Ten students visit Bridgetown to participate in a series of presentations by the emergency services regarding road safety and safe driver behaviour, as an awareness session before these students start to learn to drive on public roads.

On Monday, October 18 the Year Ten students attended this worthwhile event, experiencing real life situations whereby emergency services were used and they learned through demonstration, how their actions on our roads can lead to life changing events.

Tidy Towns Finalists

Boyup Brook has been announced as one of 28 Western Australian communities to compete for the 2021 Tidy Town awards.

Keep Australia Beautiful Council's (KABC) Tidy Towns Sustainable Communities Awards recognise sustainable, litter-free communities and winners will be announced at a lunch at Optus Stadium on Friday, November 26.

This is the 52nd year of the flagship program and it celebrates initiatives such as litter prevention, environmental education, preserving heritage, community action and youth leadership.

Boyup Brook has been announced as finalists in three of the seven award categories including: Environmental education; Heritage and culture; and Young legends, with programs delivered by both local schools and the Boyup Brook CRC.

The town is also in the running along with five other regional towns to be named the overall State winner.

A community will also be recognised with the Containers for Change award for most effectively using their 10-cent container deposit scheme refunds, and a Leadership Award will be given to an outstanding community leader.

The Keep Australia Beautiful Council Tidy Towns Sustainable Communities Awards are funded by the State Government through the Waste Avoidance and Resource Recovery Account, administered by the Waste Authority, and are also supported by the Department of Water and Environmental Regulation, Main Roads Western Australia, Natsales, Australian Institute of Management WA, WA Return Recycle Renew Limited and Vanguard Press.

KABC Chairman Michael Aspinall says, "KABC's Tidy Towns Sustainable Communities Awards are a much loved and respected part of the Western Australian way of life.

"For more than 50 years, these awards have showcased the important work taking place in our State's regional and remote communities and encouraged friendly competition between towns.

"I congratulate all of the 2021 finalists for their commitment to the environment and sustainability in their communities – and I look forward to seeing who will take out the top prize in November."

For more information on the Awards and to view finalists visit www.kabc.wa.gov.au/get-involved/tidy-towns-sustainable-communities.

Flashy Photographers Awarded

The What's Your Angle? Photography Competition wrapped up on October 15 and this year, one winner in particular caught the eye of the competition's new judge.

Having the unenviable task of deliberating over 111 images, first time judge Naomi, of Naomi Rice Photography said this year's Most Outstanding Print captured her from the moment she walked in the door.

It was Anne Lasini's 'Shearing Shed' that took out the top honours, and Anne also received four other prizes for her entries this year.

"I'm still in a bit of shock with the results, especially being awarded the Most Outstanding Print. Thank you to all involved." Said Anne.

The official opening and awards presentation on Saturday, October 9 was featured at the Walk on the Wildside Weekend, and saw eleven different photographers awarded for their images this year.

In its fourth year, the competition attracted a high standard of photographs, with a record number of Under 18 entrants, many that were entered thanks to the involvement of the Boyup Brook District High School.

"It was really special to also see that there were three Under 18 entrants who took out prizes in their respective categories as well," said Boyup Brook CRC Project Officer, Sharon Lampard.

All of this year's Under 18 winners were Henry Openshaw, Imogen Mead, Brooke Nield, Hamish Murphy and Heidi Corker.

The full week of the exhibition saw more than 160 visitors to the CRC, and the 131 People's Choice Award votes were tallied at the conclusion of the event with Don Railton's image 'Curious Emu' winning.

All of the prizes for the competition were sponsored by local businesses, a sincere thank you to: Boyup Brook Lions Club; Shire of Boyup Brook; Boyup Brook Co-op; Blackwood Plant Hire; Hampton Partners and Bluestone Café.

St Mary's Primary School

St Mary's students continue to shine in their community and further afield.

Two Year 6 students were recently awarded Highly Commended status in the prestigious state-wide Tim Winton Young Writers' Awards. Hayley Hester and Lillianne Caldwell received the accolade for their short stories based on life in the Swan River Colony.

Lillianne won her award for her historical fiction piece entitled, 'The Cure' and Hayley's was entitled 'The Irish Orphan Bride'. The stories were part of a class writing project, using research they did as part of the Year 6 History program.

Eight Year 6 students received the Sacrament of Confirmation recently, marking their final initiation into the Catholic Church. Kyle Mashangu, Koby Brown, Sophie Thompson, Sienna Rhodes, Sienna Mead, Lillianne Caldwell and Hayley Hester. The Bishop of Bunbury Diocese Gerard Holohan performed the sacrament. Congratulations to the students.

St Mary's was well represented at the recent Wellness Festival, with Miss Deb and Mrs Wheeler providing fun craft activities including making lava lamps, playing with playdough and mindfulness activities. Look out for them at the Dinninup Show!

Students are busily preparing for our upcoming faction and interschool athletics carnivals, honing their skills in team games and individual events. Both carnivals will be held at the hockey oval this year.

As from next year, a quality Catholic education will be even more affordable in Boyup Brook, with a change in fee structure at St Mary's, with a considerable drop in school fees. Concession card holders also receive substantial discounts. Please contact the school if you have any queries.

Garden Club

October saw our Boyup Brook Garden Club members treated to a visit at Colleen and Don Railton's property on Ridge View Avenue. A cold southerly wind was blowing but we kept its effect from our minds by being absorbed in the wonderful plants on show and it was evident that a lot of work has been put into this garden over the last few years.

The property is high on the ridge and includes a good amount of grass lawn with a cute cubby house and slide which I am sure the grandchildren love playing on.

At the front of the property is a stunning row of ornamental plum trees which are now in leaf, although some of us saw the beautiful blossoms of these trees last month as we drove past.

A generous display of kangaroo paws are planted around the property, ornamental grasses - Carex Testacea, Euphorbia Blackbird and Tiger Grass. A magnificent ground cover - Myioporium Rosea which keeps weeds at bay.

A stand out feature is the Japanese designed garden including a foot bridge, lanterns and maple trees which was inspired by a trip to Japan by Colleen and Don.

Many of us were curious about the names of the plants so it was great that Colleen could tell us because she has kept the original tags to remind her how high and wide they grow, the soil type and watering requirements. A really good idea!

Many thanks to Colleen and Don for opening their spectacular garden to our Garden Club.

Our last garden visit for the year will be to Lakeside Garden Retreat, Lot 69 Plackett Drive, Pemberton on Tuesday, November 9. We will contact Garden Club Members with further details.

The Boyup Brook Garden Club will meet up in February 2022 so please check details in the January Gazette. If you are interested in gardening or just like visiting interesting gardens please join us next year as a member of the Boyup Brook Garden Club.

From Monday 8 to Sunday 14 of November, it is National Recycling Week.

National Recycling Week provides an important opportunity for councils, workplaces, schools and individuals to improve their recycling knowledge, build better recycling habits and build trust in recycling.

This established and highly regarded annual campaign continues to educate and stimulate behaviour change, by:

- Promoting kerbside, industrial and community recycling initiatives.
- Giving people the tools to minimise waste and manage material resources responsibly at home, work and school.

Planet Ark provide many resources about what happens to your recycling, how to recycle packaging correctly and more. This information can be found at : recyclingnearyou.com.au/

Lions Den

Isn't it just wonderful that the young school kids in town are learning to be Volunteers and actually enjoying themselves at the C4C Refund Point.

Yasmin Mitchell has now also joined the team and I am pretty sure she enjoyed herself, so much so that she didn't want to go home.

So, at the moment our young volleys are, and by young I mean younger than say 17years old: Grace Lee Steere, Sophie Thompson, Yasmin Mitchell, Hannah Lee, and Jack Lee Steere when soccer is finished.

I have checked as to which Ice Cream flavours I need to have in the freezer for the weekends. So far, Cookies n Cream, and Chocolate. I am sure there will be another request soon!

I am so proud of these kids as they are the lifeblood of the future in all aspects of life. At the moment environmental impact is at the forefront of their mission, by being available to help us count thousands of 10c refund items that would normally go into landfill, on the North Boyup Brook Rd, landfill site.

I took them over to the landfill bin to have a look see, and they were astounded as to how many 10c items are still going into the bin.

Our Club did put a yellow top bin over by the landfill bin, the first week was great, it was used, the second week someone had totally removed it, and I have a feeling it went into the Landfill Bin?

So, we have permission from Dale, our very progressive CEO, to chain a couple of bins to the fencing over by the bin, so that you can, please, please just separate your 10c items into a separate bag, box, bin and tip them into the Recycle Bins.

They will have a White top on them, as the new motto is DON'T FEED THE FILL.

Congratulations to Cameron Atherton for raising $26,000 for Prostate Cancer.

*Thanks for reading,
Glenda Moroni.*

Powering the Towers When it is Most Needed

The tragic fires and the threat of destruction to life and property in Australia and across the world caused by climate change could get worse, due to rising temperatures, according to Climate Scientist predictions.

Federal Minister for Communications Paul Fletcher recently said that during the catastrophic fires of 2019/2020 on the east coast, "150 phone towers were out of action due to lack of power. $37 million was allocated from the resilience fund to provide backup power, to keep towers operating for 12 hours using solar and diesel".

The south west of our state is just as vulnerable. A fire similar to the recent Woorooloo fires near Perth, could also inflict extensive damage, threatening our homes and lives, destroying natural assets of biodiversity, tourism industry, rural food production and lifestyle. Without a failsafe communications system, community emergency service volunteers lose the ability to operate as a team to keep us all safe.

Having witnessed how bad it can be, we now have the opportunity to build in to our integrated Mobile Tower network, a backup power system for each tower in the South West and Great Southern, that lasts more than just a few hours, when the grid could be down for several days and communities and individuals are isolated when help is most needed.

A study and audit of the network must be done at the earliest opportunity to ascertain the most effective means of providing a backup energy source for each Mobile Tower for several days, followed by an action plan for funding the infrastructure and implementation throughout our integrated network.

We should not underestimate the economic value of employment the project would generate.

Now is the time to act. All our Government members: Local, State and Federal, need to work together to urgently put in place measures to protect our communications network.

Local Governments and Emergency Services personnel have been concerned about our vulnerability for years. Local Government can be effective activists, because the system providers receive income provided by our residents, businesses, administration and services.

State and Federal Governments as users, and infrastructure network providers have a responsibility to provide the funding and make it happen as soon as possible. After all Telstra and other providers know when the network is down, income is nil.

Everyone knows the need is urgent, so all of us have a responsibility to lobby on behalf of our community so that every decision maker at local, State and Federal level will know what is needed and failure to act quickly could cost lives, property and livelihoods.

Blackwood Biosecurity Workshops

There are two free workshops coming up at the Boyup Brook Town Hall, to be conducted by Blackwood Biosecurity Inc, and supported by Leschenault Biosecurity.

Community members are invited to attend the free workshops. Details include:

Cotton Bush Control Workshop

4:30 – 5:15 pm, Thursday, November 11

Narrow leaf cotton bush (Gomphocarpus fruticosus) is a highly invasive weed and a declared pest in Western Australia. It aggressively out-competes native and agricultural plant species, posing a major threat to our food systems and the natural environment.

If you have cotton bush on your land, it is important to manage infested areas through appropriate treatments to prevent further spread.

We invite community members to join us for information on best practices for controlling cotton bush and the state's current initiative addressing this weed.

Rabbit Control Calicivirus RHDV1-K5 Summer Releases Information Session

5:30 – 6:30 pm, Thursday, November 11

Please come along to this information session if you would like to participate in Calicivirus RHDV1-K5 releases on your property during the 2021-22 summer season. On ground services will be facilitated by neighbouring Leschenault Biosecurity Group. We invite you to come along to learn about the process for this program.

"K5" Release Program Wait Until Summer?

The main breeding season of rabbits in our area extends from about May to November depending on availability of suitable green feed.

We halt our virus releases at this time, due to the abundance of green plants for rabbits to eat, making them less likely to want our baited oats and more significantly because releasing during breeding season can make the future generations of local rabbits immune to the K5 virus compromising this control method.

The Boyup Brook Town Hall is located at 55 Abel Street.

For more information about either of these programs, please contact Blackwood Biosecurity Inc (BBI) at 0477 049 967 or info@blackwoodbiosecurity.org.au

Poem: All Aboard For Mars

All board, we are now going in a rocket off to Mars
 But is it wise, this thing we do, gazing at the stars
 What is this journey worth, for the cost is very great
 And down here on the earth more worthy projects wait
 We're told that there will be a base built on the planet
 And a call for volunteers to go out there and man it
 I think that you might be averse to five long months in space
 Whirling round the universe just to get to such a place
 For Mars has got no air to breathe, so no oxygen at all
 There is no life, we do believe, unless it's very small
 No water, nothing growing, not a single lonely tree
 No lakes or rivers flowing, nothing picturesque to see
 They say that they'll be mining rare minerals for the earth
 Some they may be finding but what will they be worth
 If they are brought to us by rocket, carried all that way
 How will they make a profit, however will they pay
 They say we're going to Mars, en route for father out
 Heading onward to the stars is what it's all about
 But is this really possible, is it ever going to happen
 Is this really plausible, is it something we could bet on
 If you set off in a rocket to reach our nearest neighbour star
 You'll need more in your pocket than a book and chocolate bar
 At our present speed of travel of forty thousand k's an hour
 If your plans do not unravel and your rocket has the power
 You will get there feeling you have wasted your career
 After sitting in your spaceship for a hundred thousand years
 So! These trips to Mars are costly, are they worth the ride?
 Or will they be undertaken for stupid national pride.

Footnote on space travel: At our current speed of space travel a trip from Boyup Brook to Bridgetown would take about two and a half seconds. If we decided to press on to our nearest star, Alpha Centauri, the trip would take, as the poem says, one hundred and fourteen thousand years. Sure, light reaches us from Alpha Centauri in just four and a half years but the laws of physics make it impossible for space travel to ever reach anywhere near the speed of light. We are stuck in the slow lane and it will always be a long way to the stars. GC

Chudacud Cup Coming

The Western Australian Mower Racing Association is coming to Chudacud Estate, for an afternoon of lawnmower racing thanks to sponsorship from the Shamrock Hotel Sporting Club.

This family friendly event will start at midday and run till 4pm on Saturday, November 13 with food and light refreshments available for purchase until sold out.

Kelly and Jamie from Chudacud Estate, believe that this is a great event to come and see some racing that is certainly out of the ordinary.

The mowers on show will compete in three heats and then a grand final on the day, as the racers attempt to gain points in their quest to win the championship and receive the coveted Chudacud Cup.

The mowers being raced vary from your average ride on with the cutting deck removed for safety reasons, up to the super modified 'A Class' mowers that can have 4 stroke motorbike engines up to 450cc's.

There will be an opportunity to enter the pits between the heats so that everyone can get a close look at these hot rods of the mower world and for dads to get some ideas of what to do with that old ride on in the back of the shed and look at the lawn in a whole new way.

Come along to an afternoon of fun that people will be talking about for weeks to follow. Chudacud Estate is located 15kms west of Boyup Brook on the Bridgetown Boyup Brook Road.

A gold coin donation upon entry. Please 'no dogs' as the mowers are quite noisy.

Getting to Know Sue White

with Sharon Lampard

Sue White was welcomed into the world at the Boyup Brook Memorial Hospital in April of 1939, the only child born to Allan and Beulah Brown.

Her parents were originally from Tasmania, but had moved to Boyup Brook as Allan was interested in farming and was looking for rich, river flats but they found Dinninup.

Because her father had been a pilot in the Air Force and was recalled as a trainer for the Second World War, Sue spent the first seven years of her life travelling to many places around Australia. This saw her attend her first year of school in Bradfield Park, Sydney, but soon after they moved back to Boyup Brook.

After only one term attending school in the CWA Hall in town, Sue was put on correspondence for the next three years. This meant all of her school work was sent to her to complete and return, and Sue said she then had to wait for corrections to come, "and if you didn't do it right, you had to do it all again."

In 1950, at the age of 10, Sue started boarding school at Presbyterian Ladies College which she really enjoyed. "I loved it, being an only child, it was great to get back up there and see your mates and be involved." Explained Sue.

She describes her mother as a "straight-laced person", and also a community person. Her mother started up the Boyup Brook Girl Guides for one, helped with the Upper Blackwood Agricultural Show as Secretary, and later worked at the local hospital.

After school in 1954, Sue started work in Perth but was soon required at home as her mother became ill. Her duties included helping out on the farm, cooking for shearers and assisting her mother until she recovered from septic tonsils.

Sue was home for the January floods in 1955, where she remembers having to complete a task outside whilst the water kept on rising, up past waist height. Later to warm the house and his family, her father built a fire. Sue said, "he made a fire alright, but he made it so good that it caught the chimney on fire!" So in the middle of January, in the pouring rain, her father was on the top of the roof, hosing down the chimney!

Upon her return to the area, Sue joined the Dinninup Junior Farmers, and played tennis in North Dinninup and Badminton in Dinninup. She also went on various trips away, one to South Australia, and another to Singapore.

In 1959 her parents sold all but 100 acres of their land and moved to the Swanleigh in the city. After attending business college, Sue got a job at Guildford Grammar School as Secretary to the Bursar.

The next few years kept her very busy as she joined the City Junior Farmers Club and in 1960, she won an exchange trip to Queensland, and also visited the Sydney Show. Sue was elected State Girl Vice President of the Junior Farmers movement in 1962.

The following year, Sue set sail via the Suez to the UK for a big adventure abroad.

She remembers arriving at Tilbury Docks to her first snowfall, and watching as some children had fun throwing snowballs.

In England, Sue had various jobs that included: Secretary to the International Secretary for Young Farmers UK; milking cows and looking after cattle for the June Dairy Festival; selling Ardmona Canned Fruit throughout England and Scotland; and working in Victoria House in the Immigration Department.

During her time in the UK, she was lucky enough to attend a garden party at Buckingham Palace and also hired a car with friends and spent three months driving through Europe, covering 13,000 miles.

Sue was back home by the end of 1964 and quickly received word that the University of WA had a job for her, however the good news was short lived with the sad passing of her father.

To help her mother, Sue decided to move back to Dinninup, getting a job at Elders which was then in the Hot Country Music Shop. Not much time went by before Sue met Dick White, whose family had moved to Dinninup in 1960. Sue said they married in 1966, and she "moved 6 miles down the road and faded from Brown to White!"

The White's then started a family with son Wayne born in 1967, and daughter Peta, in 1970.

When the children were little, Sue remembers taking them to a clinic to be weighed in the building that is now the Visitors Centre. Later they went to Kindergarten in the same building and they both enjoyed ballet lessons in the Lesser Hall, which was then the Youth Centre in town.

Her children rode the bus in to school every day, were involved with the Swimming Club and once a month the White's spent a big day out at the Pony Club in Mayanup.

Sue's days were also filled with helping on the farm, feeding the shearers when necessary and they also got involved with Devon Cattle as they had a stud. This led to showing Devons at Perth Royal Shows and becoming involved with the Devon Cattle Society.

Following in her mother's footsteps, Sue started with up with the local Girl Guides, first becoming a Brownie Leader. As time went on, she became the District and then the Division Commissioner, and finally she was the first Regional Commissioner of the Blackwood Region covering an area from Boyup Brook to Busselton and Pemberton.

This saw Sue travelling around to all the different groups, all while juggling home life with her children and farm duties.

In the eighties, Sue had lots of fun promoting the town as a part of her role with the Tourism Association and the Blackwood River Valley Marketing Association. She was also on the Hospital Board for a time before it was disbanded.

In 1995, Sue and Dick moved into town and their son Wayne took over the farm. She then worked for Stagline Woollen Clothing, eventually becoming a partner with several other employees and taking over the business.

"This led to Dick and myself working with Peter Chilwell at the time of the 2000 Sydney Olympic Games," relayed Sue. They each had roles in the Equestrian Centre, living onsite in their caravan.

They've been on many trips with this same caravan and also travelled abroad to visit their daughter Peta in Canada twice, where she was completing her PhD. Peta now lives in Melbourne working at Deakin University, and they regularly keep in contact through Skype.

The White's have been involved in the Upper Blackwood Agricultural Show in Dinninup over the years, with their property right behind the showgrounds. "Dick used to take the water truck, the kids used to ride their horses, we showed cattle, and I used to enter the cooking and preserves," said Sue.

Sue was the President of the committee lobbying for the heated swimming pool in Boyup Brook, which raised over $100,000 towards the project. She's also a regular at the pool when it is open, and this year will help her team swim to Wagin.

Sue recently retired from Treasurer of the Boyup Brook Tourism Association and was awarded Life Membership for over 40 years of service. Like many who have been so heavily involved in community and voluntary work, Sue thinks it is so important for people in a small town to all do their bit to help local groups. "It is also a great way to be involved, meet people [and] be a part of things," said Sue.

These days, Sue can be found in her beloved sewing room making quilts, gardening and caring for Dick. She thinks her greatest achievement is being married for over 50 years and still enjoying the company of her husband.

Blooming Wild Weekend WOW!

Walk on the Wild Side was a huge success. Featuring Classic and Vintage cars, the crowds that gathered around Old DOG, Dirt and Diesel and the new Boyup Brook Classic Cars weren't disappointed.

"I don't know where all these people and cars are coming from!" said Adam Winsor grinning from ear to ear. This annual celebration which includes all collectables big, small, arty and crafty, attracted over 500 people to town across October 9 and 10.

A highlight again was the Wildflower Tour under the leadership of Tara Reid and Mavis Sowry. A bus load visited two reserves at Tonebridge and Mickalarup and stopped for a delicious picnic lunch.

"Everything about the tour was absolutely wonderful," said Denise Jensen, from Bicton.

Again Art on Abel was a big splash of colour. Wonderful local artwork also included the Archibald Awards from the High School Students. Sandy Chambers worked hard on the garden art for the raffle.

Our thanks go to everyone who participated and helped especially our sponsors: the Boyup Brook Co-op, Old DOG, Dirt and Diesel, Boyup Brook Tyre Service, Boyup Brook Classic Cars, Quacking Frog Tea House, Sue Mead Bus Service, Janet Winter and Sandy Chambers.

Real Estate Sales Growth Set to Continue

Sellers in regional areas of WA continue to share big-time in the spoils of the COVID 19 pandemic driven property market. Many sellers are experiencing multiple offers on sale of their property.

Available listings have declined substantially over the past 12 months with buyers experiencing for the first time in many years the shortage of choice and sellers experiencing a quick turn around in sales. REIWA figures show that the whole WA market listing choice is down about 40% since 2019.

There is a huge amount of confidence in the market at present and with low stock availability, low interest rates and strong competition sellers are being rewarded with high sale prices. Lengthy wait times in new builds is also helping fuel the existing home sales market.

Ex pats coming back and eastern state buyers are also providing a boost to the WA market with figures showing a positive interstate migration of plus 1650 as at March quarter.

As border restrictions ease there will be an increase in interstate migration due to worker shortages in the mining industry and returning Australians from overseas. Greenbushes alone is looking to employ over 600 workers.

This will increase demand for housing, tightening the depleted stock levels even further with the potential of driving up prices. The past 12 months has seen an average price increase of approx. 8% to 10% within the region, which is great news for sellers coming off a very low base pre COVID19.

So, in summary; Yes! We will continue to see reasonable growth in sales in our much sought-after Blackwood region.

Jigsaw Sudoku Puzzles

Jigsaw sudoku puzzles make a nice twist on the traditional format. Just as in a regular sudoku, the rows and columns must still contain one and only one of the digits. However, as you can see, instead of the usual regularly shaped subareas, known as nonets, the boxes are irregularly shaped. Just as in a standard sudoku, you may only put one of each of the digits in these subareas.

St Saviour's Snippets

On October 9, the Boyup Brook Anglican Church moved three Motions at the Annual Bunbury Synod. The Motions were presented by Dr Don Reid and Adrian Price. All three Motions were approved.

Briefly, the Motions were as follows:

Action for safe air and climate change.

Noting the Federal Governments lack of attention to minimise the pollution of the atmosphere and effects on climate change as well as community health.

Federal Government refugee and asylum seeker Policy.

Recognising an urgent need for a more compassionate attitude towards persons fleeing persecution. Opposing detention of children of refugees and an indefinite detention of refugees or asylum seekers.

Provision of affordable accommodation.

It is estimated that about 20,000 West Australians are classed as homeless, most losing any form of security for themselves or their belongings. After the Wooroloo bush fire earlier this year, Andrew Forrest and family provided 40 transportable homes to those who had lost their homes. This is better than living in a car or a tent.

CONFERENCE OF THE PARTIES (COP 26)

On Saturday, October 30 Boyup Brook residents were invited to ring the church bell in recognition of the importance of COP 26 in Glasgow to commence on November 1.

Direction for Our Times

We continue our cycle of monthly messages for 2021 with the message for October 1, 2005 for our prayer groups and personal reflection.

October 1, 2005

Jesus

I have willed a time of great joy for my beloved apostles. Joy is something that the world wishes to take from God's children, but joy is available nonetheless.

The world encourages people to concentrate on comfort and possessions. I ask you to concentrate on service. This is a marked contrast, is it not? Let me explain why service brings you joy.

If you rise each day and pledge allegiance to God, you will begin that day with more thought of serving than being served. In this way, you look at your day as an opportunity to work for Heaven and to work for your brothers and sisters. This perspective sends you into the day as a servant.

When the day presents you with opportunities to assist or console others, or simply to be tolerant of people, you do not view this as a burden or interruption of your entertainment and comfort. You view these moments as requests made to you directly from the Throne of God.

Fulfilling a request made to you by God brings joy. You serve Heaven and we fulfil our part of the agreement by sending you joy. If all of God's children lived this way, there would be great joy on Earth. Through this joy would come peace.

If even one of God's children makes the commitment to serve as a beloved apostle, there is an increase of joy and an increase in peace. This is because an apostle does not become angry when he or she is inconvenienced. The apostle responds in calm trust when the world presents them with difficulty, or even pain. There is no striking out at others. There is no rebelliousness. There is peace.

The world is changing and it is changing one person at a time. Join me and make a commitment to peace in your world. I will send it through you, my beloved apostles.

Be Still and Know..... God

Set free to fulfil your destiny

'He has sent Me to heal the brokenhearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives.' Luke 4:18

Michelangelo's masterpiece David is in a gallery in Florence, Italy. Thousands of tourists wait for hours every day to get a glimpse. But many of them fail to notice the series of unfinished sculptures that line the corridor on the way to David.

Their forms are identifiable—a body part here, a torso there. The statues were intended to adorn the tomb of Pope Julius II, but they were never finished. It's almost as if these sculptures are trying to break free and become what they were intended to be, but they are stuck in stone. Michelangelo called them 'captives'.

Have you ever felt like a captive? You can't seem to break free from habitual sins that have held you back. You know who you want to be, what you want to do, and where you want to go, but you can't seem to get there. Regardless of how long you've been stuck, God wants to finish what He started in your life.

Jesus said His mission was to set captives free (see Luke 4:18). We tend to think of that statement in judicial terms; salvation is our get-out-of-jail-free card. But it's much more. Maybe we should think of that statement in artistic terms.

Jesus also died to resurrect the person we were destined to be before sin distorted the image of God in us. We are held captive by our imperfections and insecurities; by our guilt and anxieties. Jesus died to set us free from all the above. And He doesn't just set us free from who we were, He sets us free to become who we were meant to be.

On the Green

On May 2, we had our Closing Day Champaign Breakfast which was held at the District Club.

Once the Presentation of trophies were complete, President Kevin Connor invited Vivienne Lee Steere to the floor and spoke of all the tireless hours and work she has dedicated to the Bowling Club over many years, and on behalf of the Bowling Club, Kevin proceeded to congratulate Vivienne on becoming a "Life Member" and presenting her with a Life Member Badge.

Our Opening Day was on Sunday, October 10. With 16 Members attending, our new Men's Captain Mr Ken Ritson, welcomed and wished everyone an enjoyable and good Bowling Season.

To mark the Opening of the 2021 -2022 Season Ken asked our two Life Members, Mr Robin White and Mrs Vivienne Lee Steere to roll up a bowl each.

The weather was perfect and after one game was played, everyone had a lovely afternoon tea and then back out to play another game.

A men's event played on the weekend of October 16 & 17, was the "Handicap 75up", sponsored by "Frank Palmer Memorial Trophy". Six players entered.

Congratulations to the winner Robin White, and Runner-up Ken Ritson

Wishing both Ladies and Men's Pennant Teams all the best for this Season.

Looking forward to seeing more Members at Social Bowls on Sundays. Visitors most welcome.
